brokers, 6 West Second South street, make public the following letters on the stock grarket:

T. A. McIntyre & Co., New York, say:
"Speculation relapsed into extreme duilness today, largely on account of excessive heat driving so many operators out of the State, and also owing to the uncertainty as to whether there will be any increase or extra dividend declared on Amalgamated Copper at the directors' meeting next Thursday, or any action on Union Pacific this week to increase the dividend on that stock to a regular 6 per cent basis. There is nothing to indicate any serious disturbance in the general market, especially in view of picthora of funds offering at low rate of interest, the satisfactory state of general business and the good outlook for the wheat and corn crops. The only bad feature is the precarlous conditions of cotton crop and the very strained speculative position which that market now occupies, but this is not sufficient to cause any alarm as yet in the stock market."

Logan & Bryan, New York, say: "The market closed irregular and duil, the latter feature very likely being induced from the extreme heat which prevails over the cautive country, it makes splendid crop weather, but traders as a rule do not care to exert themselves with temperatures in the 50%. It is a typical midsummer market without news of any kind. Strength, however, seems well maintained and on the setbacks, think purchases of good stocks will be rewarded with moderate profits."

Its tone was rather heavy, but the price movements were in no way significant. Traders took the selling side and were able to mark prices down, finding no support to oppose them, but long stocks did not come out on the reactions. The market closed quiet but firm."

Weather conditions throughout the wheat-growing sections of the United States were almost ideal for the new crop, no rain being reported except scattered showers in the Dakotas and Minnesota. The movement of new wheat in the Southwest was again of large volume, aggregate arrivals at Kansas City and St. Louis being 50,600 bushels, compared with 161,000 bushels a year ago. In addition, prices for wheat at Liverpool showed considerable decline.

However, after the first rush to sell was over shorts became active buyers and there was also a good demand from many traders who thought that the market had been over-sold. Buil sentiment was silmulated by a report from Kansas City precicing a failing off of new wheat in the near future, the continued decline in the price of cash wheat being given as the reason for the prospective decrease in arrivals.

As a result, the market continued to be-come firmer, but the chief influence that tended to encourage the bulls was the fear of damage to spring wheat by extreme high temperatures and other po-tential causes. After touching $3\frac{1}{2}c. Sep-tember closed at $3\frac{1}{2}c. a gain of $\frac{1}{2}c.$. Sentiment in corn was inclined to bull-ishness after the first hour. The close was firm, September $\frac{1}{2}c.$ up at $55c.

The oats markot was weak. September closed at $2c. a loss of $4c.

Provisions were firm. The volume of trading was small. At the close park for September was up $12\frac{1}{2}c.$ lard was up $2\frac{1}{2}0^2$ for, and ribs were $5c. higher.
